

Hallott szöveg értése 1

You will hear a report on Asian financial markets. You will hear the recording twice. Complete the notes below using a few words. Look at the example below:

US Stocks Decline after Bailout Passage

0. European stock markets finished higher on Friday, but markets in Asia were down.

1. The US stock market surged until the House of Representatives

2. The dollar was low against the Japanese yen but

3. The Secretary General of the UN Conference on Trade and Development said the rescue plan is only a first step towards

4. On the topic of US financial institutions he spoke about the need for a rethinking of the way that financial institutions

5. Although Barbara Lee of California had voted against the bailout she agreed to

6. According to the Republican Marilyn Musgrave taxpayers will

7. In connection with the bill's passage President Bush said that it sends a

8. The reason why the rate of unemployment in the US remained the same was because hundreds of thousands

9. Wells Fargo signed a 15 billion dollar agreement to

10. According to Nancy Atkinson Wells Fargo made Wachovia a better deal because Fargo's

Hallott szöveg értése 2

You will hear a text. Read the 10 statements on the candidate copy beforehand. You will have 2 minutes for that, then listen to the text. If you think the statement is correct, put a tick under T. If you think the statement is not correct, put a tick under F. You will hear the text twice.

After the first listening you will have 2 minutes to answer the questions, after the second listening you will have 2 minutes to finalise your answers.

Lessons from Extraordinary Women

Listen to the recording of a radio programme about unusual careers for women.

		TRUE	FALSE
1.	“Second Chance” stories can give us clues on how to make a virtue of necessity.
2.	Lorene Siaw became deaf due to an inborn abnormality.
3.	Her very first choice of career was the teaching profession.
4.	Jennifer Mason has completely turned her back on her original career objectives.
5.	Mina Jafari Roe was sentenced to 10 years’ imprisonment for her political ideas.
6.	Meredith serves other people’s recovery from eating disorder both as a facilitator and a writer.
7.	Former users of humanitarian services often become devoted service providers.
8.	Convalescents from mental disorder or addictions continuously face prejudice on the job market.
9.	Being responsible for their children’s well-being hinders women from restarting their careers.
10.	It is entrepreneurial skills that help several women to make a new start.		